DON'T LET THE PIGEON DRIVE THE BUS!
by Mo Willems
Grades: Pre-K to 1; Ages: 2-6
Themes: Responsibility, Humor, Problem Solving, People at Work
Running Time: 5 minutes

SUMMARY
When the bus driver takes a break, his last instructions are: “Don’t let the pigeon drive the bus!” This proves to be easier said than done. The lively and persistent pigeon will have children adamantly shouting, “No!” while also arousing their empathy for things that they are not allowed to do.

OBJECTIVES
• Students will make text-to-self and text-to-text connections.
• Students will discuss responsibility.

BEFORE VIEWING ACTIVITIES
Ask children if they have ever wanted to do something very badly, but weren't allowed. Guiding questions:
• What are some things that you want to do, but are not allowed to do?
• How do you feel when you are told “no”?
• Why do you think that you're not allowed to do these things that you want to do?
• What kinds of things do you say or do to try to make your (parent, teacher, babysitter) change their mind?

AFTER VIEWING ACTIVITIES
Introduce children to the comprehension strategies of making text-to-self and text-to-text connections. Explain that when there is something in a book or video that reminds them of something in their lives, it is called a text-to-self. Ask students to share text-to-self connections that they had with the video (these could be anything from, “I have ridden on a bus,” to, “I wanted to get some candy in the store and my mom said no.”). Text-to-text connections are when a book or video has a similarity to another book or video. Help students think of examples of other books or videos that they have read or seen that can be connected to this video (for example No! David by David Shannon). Make lists on butcher or chart paper of the text-to-self and text-to-text connections that the students come up with. These can be hung in the classroom as reminders of good strategies that help students better understand books and videos.

Use the illustrations that the children drew in the Before Viewing Activity to put together a book. Older children can write their own sentences to go with their illustrations, while younger children will need a teacher to scribe their words. Students can make covers and title pages for the books and they can be added to the class library for others to read.

Discuss responsibility with the students. Guiding questions:
• What are your responsibilities at home? At school?
• What responsibilities do your parents and teachers have?
• Why did the bus driver say that the pigeon couldn't drive the bus?
• Why would it be irresponsible to let the pigeon drive the bus?

OTHER RELATED TITLES FROM WESTON WOODS:
The Boy Who Cried Wolf by B.G. Hennessey, ill. by Boris Kulikov
Do Unto Otters (A Book About Manners) by Laurie Keller
I'm Dirty by Kate and Jim McMullan
Noisy Nora By Rosemary Wells
When Sophie Gets Angry – Really Angry by Molly Bang

OTHER TITLES FROM WESTON WOODS
BY/ABOUT MO WILLEMS:
Knuffle Bunny
Knuffle Bunny Too
Getting to Know Mo Willems Documentary

TO ORDER OTHER WESTON WOODS PRODUCTIONS: 1-800-243-5020
This guide may be photocopied for free distribution without restriction.